"I decided to pursue my MSW because it will make me more competitive among other job applicants and potentially lead to greater leadership opportunities within the field."

SELENE SCAVITTO, SHIP MSW STUDENT

Shippensburg University is developing a new cohort of its accredited Master of Social Work (MSW) program especially for Schuylkill County.

This part-time, year-round program is designed for students who want to either further their education in social work or join the social work profession. It is jointly offered with Millersville University, drawing on faculty expertise from both schools.

All required classes will be offered in the evening at the Schuylkill Community Education Council, 220 Parkway Ave., Schuylkill Haven, PA 17972

The MSW Schuylkill cohort program will begin in the Spring Term (January) 2013, pending enrollment of sufficient numbers of students. Applications will be accepted beginning July 1.

Why choose Social Work?

Are you looking for flexibility from your advanced degree? Few occupations can match Social Work, which offers a wide-range of opportunities and settings. Social workers can be found in public agencies, private businesses, hospitals, clinics, schools, nursing homes, private practices, police departments, courts, and numerous other exciting work settings. Social workers assist individuals, families, and communities. They can be managers, supervisors, and administrators. They work at all levels of government. They are also educators. Social workers are therapists and researchers. And many are also elected political leaders and legislators.

Job Outlook

According to the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, employment for social workers is expected to grow faster than the average of all occupations through 2018 and job prospects will be especially advantageous for individuals working in rural areas. Social work is a profession for individuals who want to help people improve their lives!

Why choose a MSW degree at Shippensburg University?

A bachelor's degree in Social Work will allow you to secure an entry-level position in the Social Work field. A MSW degree is required to perform most clinical (i.e. therapy) and macro (i.e. Administrator) work. Many other social work programs require an individual choose a concentration, which normally means choosing between the clinical or macro track. Shippensburg University's master's in Social Work is a CSWE accredited Advanced Generalist program. An Advanced Generalist MSW permits graduates to work in a variety of human service programs and agencies in an advanced clinical and/or administrative capacity. The flexibility of the social work degree provides graduates with many options as they pursue their careers in the helping fields. Also, our program seeks to be accommodating to non-traditional students and individuals working full-time; all of our required MSW classes are offered in the evening!

Accreditation

The MU-SU MSW program is fully accredited by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE).
